

As seen in the 2010 winter edition of
There's a lot to do in Windsor

One that didn't get away

Wayne McKinney – Chief Building Official

Is that a fish or what? Caught that striper with light tackle on Long Island Sound.

I guess I just love to be outdoors. My Hunny and I have a campsite in northeastern Connecticut and we enjoy working together with family and friends to organize theme weekends for the kids. More than 1,000 kids rode our Halloween themed hay wagon ride this year.

Here in Windsor, I'm the Chief Building Official & Zoning Enforcement Officer. I know that sounds, well, pretty "official" but those of us in the Building Department aren't here to harass you. It may seem like a lot of work to get a building permit for a new deck, pool or to rehab your basement, but if you bring us that project before you begin it, odds are we can save you time and money and make sure that the finished job meets code and passes muster with your insurance company. We all have a lot of building and construction experience and you can think of us as free consultants. How's that for a good deal?

Check out the Building Department's website at townofwindsorct.com under "Town Government Departments" or, if you like to fish and hunt, drop by at Town Hall to see us even if you don't need a building permit.

Hey, we're a great team and we're here to help you. Unlike the fish, we don't bite!
